

HYDRANGEA PANICULATA

'CANDLELIGHT'

IMPRESSIVE FLOWER DISPLAY

This outstanding new Hydrangea paniculata produces conical, creamy white flowers on deep red stems for an impressive and unforgettable visual display. As the flowers age they gently change to shades of pale and deeper pinks. 'Candlelight' is an elegant, yet extremely hardy shrub with strong stems ensuring that flowers are held proudly upright from later summer through to the autumn season.

FEATURES

- A sun-loving Hydrangea with impressive flower power
- Creamy white flowers gently change to pale and darker pink shades in climates with cooler autumn nights
- Sturdy red coloured stems complement the changing flower shades
- Outstanding garden plant for late summer/autumn flowering
- Lush green summer foliage changing into autumn tones
- Can be grown in large containers
- A highlight for any garden

CARE

Summer watering is encouraged through dry periods to gain maximum flower size and impact. Moderate water requirements when in flower. Prune back old flowers in late winter to encourage new growth in spring.

CAUTION: Harmful if eaten/skin & eye irritant
