

Sedum spathulifolium 'Green Blob'

Spreading ground cover

FEATURES:

- Ornamental, fleshy foliage for year round interest.
- Forms a cushion-like mound making a highly textural ground cover.
- Low maintenance and easy to grow.
- Dry tolerant once established.

SUGGESTED USES:

- Ground cover or edging for paths/ driveways.
- Rockeries, gravel or dry garden designs.
- Small gardens or spaces.
- Containers and general garden use.

CULTURAL CARE

Ensure soil is well draining and location is sunny. Once established, water sparingly. No other maintenance is generally required although if grown in containers an addition of a slow release fertiliser during spring would be beneficial.

Commonly known as Stonecrops, Sedums are a versatile and low maintenance solution for many garden situations. Ideal for container displays either on its own or in a mixed planting or adds textural interest to garden beds and borders. Great effects can be achieved where it can spill between rock crevices, over walls or other edges. Alternatively allow enough space to form a cushion-like mound as a highly textural groundcover. Combine with other ornamental sedums such as S. 'Chocolate Blob', S. 'Purple Blob' and S. 'Silver Blob'.
